ABOUT JOE KROMER

Joe started square dancing in 1991. He called his first tip at his Mainstream graduation dance in May, 1992. That summer he was given the opportunity to call on a regular basis for a club where his brother, Martin Kromer, was club caller. Eventually Joe was asked to be a co-caller with Martin.

From 1993 to 1996 Joe was the Mainstream caller for a club in Stuttgart, and in 1995 he started an adult square dance class. The "Alb Dream Dancers" originated from this class, and Joe called for them until 2000. Starting in 1999, Joe calls Plus and A1 for the "Black Forest Ghosts", and since 2000 has been a member of staff at Kenny Reese's "School of Caller Education and Leadership Development". He took over the Caller School in 2011 when his role model and partner, Kenny, passed away.

In July 2003 Joe became the second German caller to pass the gruelling exams to earn the designation of CALLERLAB Accredited Caller Coach. In 2005 Joe founded his square dance music production company with the record label "Gramophone Productions".

Joe's passion for and dedication to square dancing has made him a popular, well-known and respected featured caller at many special dances, regional conventions and national Jamborees.

Joe & Caroline have three children and live in the small town of Tannheim, located in the beautiful Black Forest. Caroline works as a consultant for quality management and Joe is a planning engineer for commercial kitchen equipment.
